Last week, many areas of the Cotton Belt experienced cloudy weather. In some areas of North and Central India, there were reports of light rainfall. Temperatures increased in some areas and decreased in other areas.

The daily arrivals of Kapas (seed-cotton) ranged from 140,000 to 160,000 bales per day last week, with a total arrival of approximately 1 million bales in last week.

The arrival of Seed Cotton-Kapas has increased in the last week. The mindset of most farmers across India has changed, and now they want to sell their stocked Kapas. It seems that the arrival of Kapas will continue in good numbers.

It seems that the stock of Cotton bales has increased with ginners everywhere in India. The fear of the falling price of Cotton is now out of mind of most of the ginners.

The prices of cottonseed and oil cake were somewhat lower last week. The price of wash oil is going down following the fall in prices of foreign oil other than groundnut oil.

Most spinners are buying raw cotton slowly as they do not want to increase their inventory. Many spinners are confident about the availability of enough raw cotton in India. In the absence of exports of cotton, they can procure cotton at any time.

Prices of raw cotton were lower last week following the ICE futures. It seems that the impact of ICE futures on Indian cotton prices has become minimal these days. It seems that in the coming months, cotton prices will depend mostly on the volume of the arrival of Kapas.

Cotton Year: 2022-23 Rajkot, Gujarat, India

If there is an increase in the global demand for textile products, the prices of cotton can sharply go up. Worldwide empty pipeline of the textile channel can propel prices higher.

On the ICE platform, May futures prices fell sharply on the first notice day. Following May futures, July, December, and all other months' futures also came down. It seems that this was due to fixation of the prices of the open contracts. However, it can improve in the coming week.

The basis of Indian cotton to ICE May futures increased and reached 18.45 plus ON from 15.00 plus ON. The basis of Indian cotton to July futures increased and reached 16.71 plus ON from 14.93 plus ON.

ICE May futures decreased by -4.45 cents (-5.37%) and closed at 78.41 cents last week. ICE July futures decreased by -2.78 cents (-3.35%) and closed at 80.15 cents last week. Open interest decreased by 12,798 lots, reaching 1,64,076 lots (equivalent to Indian bales 2,18,89,379), indicating a downtrend.

ZCE May futures increased by +25 Yuan (+0.17%) and closed at 14,765 Yuan last week. Open interest decreased by 4,715 lots, reaching 10,28,419 lots (equivalent to Indian cotton bales 3,02,45,803), indicating a stable to a bearish trend.

MCX April Futures decreased by -1,140 ₹ (-1.80%) and closed at 62,220 ₹ last week. MCX June Futures also decreased by -500 ₹ (-0.78%) and closed at 64,000 ₹. Open interest increased by 33 lots, reaching 389 lots (equivalent to 38,900 bales).

Based on the current market trend, it is expected that physical cotton prices will remain stable in the coming week, with the potential of firmness in the long term.
